DR. SPAIN TELLS GRADS TO EXPECT SERIES OF CRISES

600 Are Here For Commencement At School Auditorium

Approximately 600 people attended commencement exercises of the Morgan County high school Friday evening and heard Dr. Charles R. Spain, president of Morehead State College, compare the expectations of graduates to day when he himself was a graduate. He told members of the graduating class they "must assess the future as realistically, intelligently and objectively as possible."

Presiding during the exercises, which took place in the high school auditorium, was W. O. Pelfrey, principal. Miss Betty Jo Whitl, of the music faculty, provided piano music for the occasion, which was followed by the invocation by Rev. Fred Penniston, pastor of the local Christian church.

A sextet of high school girls, beautifully gowned in bouffant formal, sang two numbers during the program, "Beautiful Savour" and "Alma Mater." The sextet was composed of Virginia Longbaugh, Wilda Jane Walsh, Paula Hamilton, Moreda Jean Davis, Carolyn Gabbard and Claudette Fletcher.

W. G. Ratliff, chairman of the Morgan County Board of education, introduced Dr. Spain, and gave an impressive list of Dr. Spain's qualifications and accomplishments.

Dr. Spain warmed his audience in the beginning of his address by saying he was always happy to help high school graduates and that Morgan county has many fine people at Morehead College. "This county is particularly close to us," he said.

Directing his statements to the graduates, he punctuated his opening remarks by asking them, "Which way will you go?" in reference to their future. Much money has been invested in each of the graduates, he explained, and compared the investment with an insurance investment.

Declaring that most of the graduating students began their school years in 1941, the beginning of World War II, and that most of their school years have been spent in a period of war, he injected a note of prophecy in his remarks, saying he felt the Korean conflict "will be settled by a truce within the next few months." He told the young men in the class that despite a truce, there would be a period of military service in their future. To the class in general he said, "I believe that you will spend most of your lives in periods of tension and crisis such as we are having now."

The speaker created a murmur of reminiscence when he told his audience that he was graduated from high school in 1931, a time when the economic status of the world was quite different from that of today. Then, he said, there were no jobs awaiting graduating students as there are today. To direct their future, Dr. Spain said graduates must choose an objective high enough; they should lose themselves in something worthwhile, and they should measure up to the mature expectations of them. He added the statement, "If you are inclined to further your education, I urge you to go to college."

The speaker emphasized that living under the shadow of the atom bomb is an ever present (Continued on page 8)

NO EAST, NO WEST, NORTH OR SOUTH IN KENTUCKY

When the Governor's Tour sponsored by Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and the State made its stop in West Liberty Thursday, it was of more than slight meaning. In this tour were 62 people, including the Governor and the heads of government of Kentucky, members of the Kentucky press, radio and business men.

We saw many of our newspaper friends from neighboring towns to the west, and others who were cordial, friendly—proving that in our own state there need be no divisions.

Included in the tour were 13 from Louisville, 10 from Lexington, 10 from Pikeville, 3 from Bowling Green, 2 from Covington, 2 from Central City, 2 from Ashland, 2 from Owensboro, 2 from Glasgow, and 1 each from Calcutin, Corbin, Irvington, Drift, Madisonville, Eminence, Hartford, Beaver Dam, LaGrange and Hazard.

We enjoyed every minute of the get together that dispenses the theory that east is east and west is west.

Come again!

A conference of county agents Ed Rice of Elliott, Wallace Coffey of Menifee, Jimmie Moore of Lawrence, Prichard King of Magoftin and Charlie Dixon of Morgan with club leaders from these counties assisted by Boyd Wheeler and Edith Lacy of the University of Kentucky, took place here this week to work out plans for the annual 4-H club camp.

Emrick Store Building Leased By Officials

Mrs. Rosaline Emrick and city officials closed negotiations this week in which the town leased that part of the corner building on Main street that housed the Emrick Shoe Store. The lease is for a period of three years.

Mrs. Emrick who has been in business at the site for some time is now conducting a closing-out sale in order to sell her stock so the new tenants can take over. The building will be used for meetings of the city council and for conducting business of the town and town officials.

LACY IN RACE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Talmadge Lacy

Desiring to be your next representative, I take this method of announcing as a candidate for representative of the 75th district, composed of the counties of Morgan and Wolfe. I was born in Morgan county, the son of Henry Lacy who was a teacher and the son of Rev. Leander Lacy. My mother, Dona Prater Lacy, is the daughter of the late John Prater.

I graduated from Cannel City high school, attended Morehead State College and taught school 6 years in Morgan county. I moved to Wolfe county in 1938, and since then I have been engaged in teaching, farming and also with the soil conservation service.

If the voters of Morgan and Wolfe counties feel that I am qualified to represent them and will elect me, I will at all times serve them to the best of my ability.

Your vote and support will be deeply appreciated.

STORE MOVES TO ONEY BUILDING

Brown's Auto and Electric store is being moved this week to the Oney building on Court street adjoining the court house square. Formerly housed in a building on Main street, Russell Brown said the move is being made so the old frame building could be torn down and replaced with a new building of glazed tile.

The old building is a landmark in West Liberty, and has been an Odd Fellows building and at one time was a theater. Browns have been in business on the site since 1946 and have a large stock of hardware and appliances.

Mr. Brown said the radio and television shop also is being moved to the Oney building.

Mrs. Goldie Havens, of Ezel, Succumbs May 5

Mrs. Goldie Havens, 43, died at West Liberty May 5. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Dunn. Survivors are her husband, Oney Havens, and two children at home, Mary Lou and Charles Ray; her mother, Mrs. C. Dunn of Gilmore; three sisters, Mrs. Verna Halsey of Campton, Mrs. Lizzie Keith of Hazel Green, Mrs. Ethel Cord of Mt. 1 MURDER CASE TO BE TRIED AT COURT SESSION

Trial Of Tackett Delayed by Trial In Rowan Court

Two murder cases are on the docket of the Morgan circuit court, which will be convened here Monday but only one of them is set for trial, court attaches said this week.

The case of Sam Collins of Cannel City charged with the slaying of his son-in-law, Chavis King last September, is set for trial the third day of the term. The case ended in a hung jury at the October term.

The other murder case is that of William Tackett of Morehead charged with the murder of Pearl Fitch, 43, of Knott county whose body was found on the Wrigley Hill eight miles north of West Liberty last August. Tackett later was charged with slaying an electric lineman in front of Tackett's restaurant in Morehead and this case is set for trial in the Rowan circuit court. By agreement, the case in Morgan circuit court has been continued.

Misdemeanor cases are set for the first day of the term and felonies for the second and third days. There are a number of civil suits but the docket for the term is comparatively light. Circuit Clerk Walter Franklin said.

Judge John A. Keck of Sandy Hook will preside and Commonwealth's Attorney Major Gardner and County Attorney Ren F. Nickell will represent the state.

Outbreak of Wildfire Threatens Tobacco Beds In Morgan County

County Agent Gives Advice On How To Combat the Disease

Wildfire outbreaks have been widespread in tobacco plant beds over Morgan county, according to County Agent Charlie Dixon. He said that serious loss of plants would result in many beds. The plants on which the bacteria have been active will carry the germs on them after they are set in the field. If a period of 5 or 6 cool, wet days is experienced in the growing period, serious damage will result from the disease in the field.

If the disease attacks a bed, Mr. Dixon recommended the following action:

1. If the damage is limited to less than five small spots in the bed use a shovel to scoop the plants in the affected area and throw them away.
2. When the sun shines, pull the canvas back to let the bed dry out as quickly as possible.
3. Remove all shading trees.
4. Pull out all weeds.
5. Treat the bed with bluestone lime, using 3 pounds of powdered bluestone, 4 pounds of fresh, hydrated lime and 50 gallons of water for each bed 100x9 feet. Treat the side poles and a strip 3 feet wide around the outside of the bed.
6. If the plants are yellow or too late, treat each bed with 5 pounds of nitrate of soda or 3 pounds of ammonium nitrate. Do not use this on beds that were treated with cyanamide last fall.

These beds already have too much nitrogen. To do this, mix the nitrate of soda in 50 gallons of water and sprinkle on the plants. Follow immediately with a light 50 gallons of water to wash it off. Do not trust the rain to wash it off.

Mr. Dixon outlined the following plans for making beds for next year:

- a. Select NOW a site where the morning sun hits fairly, where no water from a road may drain on to the site and where there is no shade.
- b. By June 15, or if it is a bed site being used now as soon as the plants are off, sow a strip 15 feet wide and the length of the bed to 15 pounds of soybeans.
- c. About September 1, or earlier, disk the soybeans and turn them under. A week or so later, disk the bed again.
- d. Be sure the bed is ditched so that no surface water can run over it.
- e. Treat the bed by burning, using methyl bromide gas or cyanamide. Do not cover the bed. If cyanamide is used, use a bag of 20% phosphate and soak the bed with 800 gallons of water.
- f. Next spring rake the bed, sow it and cover it. Use fertilizer as needed, but not over 40 pounds of mixed fertilizer per bed.
- g. When the plants start coming on use the first bluestone lime treatment. Treat again in ten days and after weeding. Beds prepared and treated in this way seldom if ever have wildfire.

U.K. Professor Warns Against Becoming Stampeded By "Patriots" Who Would Stamp Out Our Freedoms

Dr. Clark Speaks At Woman's Club Meet; Officers Are Installed

The spring banquet of the Morgan County Woman's Club took place Tuesday evening in the dining room of the Christian Church. The dinner-meeting was well attended, there being more than fifty people present to hear the address by Dr. Thomas D. Clark of the University of Kentucky and to enjoy the delectable food prepared and served by the Gabriel C. Banks Circle, under leadership of the president, Mrs. Edward Gevedon.

Rev. Fred Penniston spoke the invocation.

W. G. Ratliff, banker, performed the duties of toastmaster and as an added treat called upon his out-of-town cousin, Mrs. Wm. A. Voiers of Vancsburg, to come forward and officially heal the breach in the Lykins family that had been present for almost a hundred years. He presented Mrs. Voiers a bouquet.

Following the dinner, Mrs. C. K. Stacy installed officers for the new year as follows:

MRS. POTTER

President—Mrs. H. B. Murray
Vice President—Mrs. Henry L. Stacy
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. J. Wendell Nickell
Recording Sec.—Mrs. Gene Haney
Treasurer—Mrs. Fred Penniston

Facing the incoming officers during the installation were the outgoing officers as follows: Mrs. H. D. Potter, president, and Mrs. Woodrow Barber, recording secretary. Mrs. Jas. Brown, vice president, Mrs. Roy Nickell, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Berlyn Brown, treasurer, were not present.

Bernard E. Whitl introduced Dr. Clark, reading some passages from a book written by Dr. Clark.

Declaring that Americans now find themselves in a strange new situation—strange because our nation has been called upon, even before we were ready, to assume leadership of the free world, Dr. Thomas D. Clark of the University told club women and their guests here Tuesday night we are fighting not only a cold war and a hot war but also we are fighting a desperate battle in the human mind, a battle to preserve our great heritages of individual freedom.

Communism, Dr. Clark said, fights for possession of the human mind, but we are fighting only for the attention of the mind—we are trying to show people how to save themselves.

Dr. Clark, member of the University's History Department, spent three months last winter on a tour of duty for the American State Department in India. Previously he had served in Austria behind the iron curtain.

And, Dr. Clark spoke a solemn warning against those in America who would destroy our individual freedoms in the guise of fighting Communism. "I am not so much afraid of Communism here in America, but I am frightened when I hear so many people accusing others of subversive tendencies—people who talk freedom without using common sense."

MRS. MURRAY

"The only danger we have is the danger coming from within ourselves, the danger of being stampeded. We should be very calm, keep our wits and use good common sense—and never let ourselves be stampeded. I have no patience for those who would stam out our great heritages, our great freedoms, in the belief 'they are aiding freedom,' Dr. Clark declared.

"The way we have heard people speak the past 15 months makes us think our State Department was subversive," Dr. Clark said. But, he added, I've seen our diplomatic representatives at their posts at work behind the iron curtain and in the hot spots (Continued on Page Four)

W. LIBERTY LOSES TO IRVINE 8 TO 4

By Rudy Franklin

Making their first home start of the season, the West Liberty baseball team dropped an 8-4 decision to Irvine here Sunday, making their record 1 win and 1 loss.

Working without the services of the regular pitcher, Hogue Spencer, Manager Clarence Black again called up Sonny Adkins to start the pitching chores, despite the fact that Adkins was recuperating from an arm injury received a few weeks back. After pitching three innings, he was relieved by a young right hander, Richie Stacy. Stacy then hurled the last six innings with amazing effectiveness. He allowed only two base hits and one earned run and struck out seven batsmen.

Irvine scored one in the first, three in the second, three in the third and one in the 4th, 6th and 9th innings respectively.

West Liberty scored a run in the third as Haney tripled and scored on an infield out by Hammond. They also scored three in the ninth, two off them on a long (Continued on Page Four)

'FINEST WELCOME WE'VE HAD' WEST LIBERTY IS TOLD

Party Stopped For 15 Minutes—But It Stayed Half Hour

West Liberty and Morgan county turned on their charms here Thursday morning in welcoming the Governor's Tour to "the Bluegrass County of the Mountains," and Governor Wetherby and his party loved it.

"This is the finest reception we've ever had," the Governor beamed as he addressed the enthusiastic crowd in front of the court house.

Kentucky Chamber of Commerce President Dewey Daniel of Hazard echoed the same warm response.

And others in the tour were equally loud in their praise of the warm and hearty welcome they got in Morgan. While leaders of the tour assembled around the welcoming speakers, members of the party mingled with the crowd and all seemed to feel at home in such a friendly gathering.

Traveling in two chartered buses, the 32 radio and newsmen and 32 business men accompanied by the Chamber of Commerce officials and Kentucky Department heads, arrived from Campton beginning their second day of a four-day swing through Eastern Kentucky. They were met at the bridge across Licking River here by State Senator C. K. Stacy and Atty. J. Blaine Nickell, who escorted the tour to the public square where Morgan county's welcome was staged.

Several hundred Morgan countians had assembled to welcome the travelers. A banner across Main street in front of the court house read "Welcome Gov. Wetherby and C. of C."

Former State Representative Ralph N. Walter acted as master of ceremonies. After invocation by Rev. Gordon Duncan, Mr. Walter called upon Atty. Herbert L. Rose to speak Morgan county's official welcome.

Rose Sparks Welcome

Rose spoke a warm and hearty welcome that seemed to express the sentiments of the crowd, and set the tenor of the meeting. "We appreciate the sentiment you are showing in our section of the state, and I extend to each of you a sincere and hearty welcome from every citizen of Morgan county and West Liberty," he declared.

Addressing personally the Governor, he said "I want to welcome a man who regardless of the pressure upon him always has his own personal convictions and a firm determination to do what is best for all of Kentucky—our Governor, Lawrence W. Wetherby, a sincere welcome to you."

Fraising the interest the Chamber of Commerce has taken in helping organize the Eastern Kentucky Industrial Foundation and the work of the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board, Mr. Rose told President Daniels the Chamber of Commerce and the State have "provided the spark that is awakening the people of Eastern Kentucky to the fact our part of the state is a good one and can become a great one." And to the press and radio he said, "You are a great team, without which our country would suffer much."

Then, briefly, he extolled Morgan county as "the Bluegrass County of the Mountains," telling the visitors they would find Morgan is somewhat different from most of the counties they would visit. "It is not in the rugged mountainous regions you will visit later; it is a region of rolling hillsides which mark the beginning of the mountains; coal is not an important factor in our livelihood; we have no industry, nor railroads—but we do have some of the best native-born labor that is available; and our principal livelihood is raising the finest burley tobacco in the world—and the finest people in the world. We have a good county, one of the highest in per capita income of those you will visit. We invite you to return to Morgan county."

FOR KENTUCKY FOLKS

by Wm. C. Johnstone
AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE
KENTUCKY BANKERS ASSOCIATION

May Is the Month of Decision

Doing the job well and at the right time in May will often determine the profit or loss from an enterprise for the entire year. High on the list of important farm questions this month are: Will I get a good stand of corn and tobacco? Will I grow Sudan Grass for summer pasture? Will I clip pastures early and put surplus growth in silos? Will I cut meadows in early bloom stages to make better hay?

The Right Thickness of Corn

Corn thickness is important in producing high yields. In Kentucky, 10 to 12 thousand stalks per acre is just about right—thick enough to produce near 100 bushels in a good season, not too thick for a drought. This means having a stalk about every 15 inches in rows 3½ feet apart.

Silos Important

Silos will become increasingly important as Kentucky moves more and more into a livestock economy. A silo full of succulent grass or corn silage is the best insurance against summer droughts or severe winters. Most livestock farms need two silos—one for winter and one for summer.

Forest Fires

Forest fires damaged almost 1½ million acres of forests in Kentucky in 1952, causing a loss of over 12 million dollars. A large part of forest fires are caused by man and are preventable.

Ladino Clover

After almost complete knock-out by the drought, ladino clover is making a comeback in Kentucky pastures this year. There is no crop which produces more palatable and nutritious pasture than ladino clover in cool, moist seasons. Since it will cause bloat, U. of K. Veterinarian Dr. Ross Brown says a new bloat preventive, Runella, seems to have considerable value.

Farm Events

Experiment Station Field Day, Lexington, May 22; Wool and Lamb Festival, Lexington, June 15-16.

Scout Circus To Be Held In Lexington

More than 1500 Boy Scouts from this and 33 other counties in this area are expected to take part in the third annual Blue Grass Council Scout Circus May 23 at Stoll Field in Lexington.

At least 100 Scout units, including Cub Packs, Scout troops, and Explorer Posts, will demonstrate various phases of the extensive Scouting program, with emphasis on Scouting skills and the twelve points of the Scout law.

This year, for the first time, boys and Scout leaders from outside of Lexington will camp Friday, May 22, in a tent city, to be set up in the vicinity of the University of Kentucky. During the day, they will swim in the U.K. pool in Memorial Coliseum, visit libraries and landmarks and go sight-seeing on Lexington fire trucks.

All visiting Cubs, Scouts and Explorers will march in the circus parade Saturday afternoon. First aid will be applied to a 20-foot giant. Scouts will demonstrate building signals towers and bridges.

Tickets can be purchased from local Scouts and Scout leaders. Admission is 25 cents for children, 50 cents for adults.

TWO SOLDIERS WOUNDED

Two soldiers of R-3 Morehead, serving on the front lines in Korea, have been injured in action, their families were notified this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Gray, RFD 3, were advised their son, Billie R. Gray, was hit in the right arm and three times in the right leg while fighting with the Marines on Pork Chop hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, also of RFD 3, received word Tuesday their son, Pvt. Lindon Jones, was hit in the right leg by shell fragments. He had been in the army for about eight months and served in Korea six weeks before the injury.

In the Leisure news report recently, the item about the picnic and fishing party should have read that the group visited at the Roberts and Leisure stores, instead of Cassidy and Leisure.

2 E. Kentuckians
Killed In Korea

The Department of Defense Monday announced two Kentucky soldiers had been killed in Korea and 12 wounded. One of the slain was Sgt. Clint E. Parsons, son of Mrs. Nancy O. Parsons of Bruin, Elliott county. The other slain was Pfc. Lowell M. Ward, son of Mrs. Lois A. Ward of Williamsport, Johnson county.

Among the wounded were three Eastern Kentuckians—Pvt. Earl Kiser, son of Elmer Kiser of Morehead; Sgt. Malcolm Taylor of Wurtland.

During the early settlement of Kentucky, the present city of Paducah was known as Pekin.

DINGUS—

OPEN COAL VEIN
ON LICK BRANCH

DINGUS, Ky., May 4—(By R. H. Ferguson)—A Mr. Little of Mt. Sterling was here recently with his bulldozer and opened a coal mine on Orville Beuchimer's place on Lick Branch for Thurman Day of Soldier and I. J. Beuchimer of Dingus. They made quite an improvement on the Lick Branch road. The grader is supposed to add the finish.

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

TODAY'S WORLD A CHALLENGE

Today's world presents a challenge to young people throughout the nation and particularly to those in this part of our state. There has hardly been a period in the history of the world that has made it as easy for high school graduates to obtain employment without benefit of education as has the one in which we are now living.

It is common today for high-school graduates to think only in terms of how soon they can leave home and obtain employment in plants and factories; it is the minority who prefer to leave home to further their education in colleges and universities.

Thus, present-day need for plant and factory workers is creating in young people a lack of desire to further their education and eventually get good-paying jobs they now can get sans higher education.

It is a challenge to young people today to plan to attend some college in face of lucrative job offers. It will not be easy to turn down a weekly pay envelope for hard, steady study in school. But rest assured, that a furthering of education will not have been in vain. Everyone knows that in the event of lean years, it is the educated, qualified person who gets the prize job.

BEREA COLLEGE HAS CHANCE TO HELP

A four year grant has been given to Berea College from Ford Foundation to assist education in Eastern Kentucky. $50,000 annually for the four years is to be used to find and advance the training of 24 young teachers each year to work in isolated schools in some of these counties. The gift has met with unqualified approval of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. He has appointed a member of his staff to serve with President Hutchins of Berea College. This committee is to select 24 graduates of accredited colleges immediately who would like to undertake this challenge.

There is great need for such help in a dozen or more of the counties in Eastern Kentucky. Berea College is highly qualified to render help in such work.

KENTUCKIANS REBUKE MCCARTHY

We doff our hat to Governor Lawrence Wetherby for the courage and good sense he exhibited in declining to pose for a picture with Senator Joe McCarthy at the Kentucky Derby. And too we are proud Kentucky's Senator Cooper has at last risen in the Senate to rebuke Joe for his tirade against Britain in the Senate Thursday. Joe's statement "Let Britain withdraw her ships and be damned—the United States can go it alone," was joined in by other isolationist Senators from the Midwest, and only Kentucky's Cooper rose to quell the tirade against our chief ally.

Nothing could please the Kremlin in Moscow more than to have our own people spread distrust in our government and to separate United States and Britain, the two chief nations leading the free world in the hot-cold war against Communist aggression.

For too long McCarthyism has gone unchallenged in our nation. Congressional investigators who serve as judge, jury and prosecutor and deny the accused the benefit of counsel and the opportunity to offer rebuttal testimony are practicing un-American procedure. The practice of intimidating witnesses under the guise of combatting subversives too often has turned out to be an attack on a political enemy, good American citizens like General Marshall, Dean Acheson, Senator Millard Tydings, Senator Benton, Secretary of State Dulles, Bishop Oxnard and Harold Stassen.

More men with courage to combat it like Kentucky's Wetherby and Cooper are needed.

MOREHEAD GETS A NEW COACH

The selection of Wilbur (Shorty) Jamerson as head football coach of the Morehead State College has been announced. Jamerson who was co-captain with all-American Bob Gain of one of the greatest University of Kentucky teams also helped make Parilli a great star by catching some of his earlier passes.

For 17 years Ellis Johnson, another Kentucky "boy" now looked on as an old-timer in athletic circles, has carried on double duty as football and basketball coach and athletic director at Morehead.

The combination of Jamerson and Johnson ought to be a good one for Morehead.

MOTHER'S DAY IS EVERY DAY

(Guest Editorial by Atty. Herbert L. Rose)

When is Mother's Day?

In looking at the calendar in my room I see a picture of a woman in one of the squares and beneath the picture is printed "Mother's Day." Is it but a sentimental date upon our calendars?

In looking at what Webster says about the object of our observance we find that a mother is "a female parent" and he goes on and defines mother as "an elderly woman." Surely all this observance is not for such as this. Historically, the observance of Mother's Day dates from May 1907. It was an idea that appealed to almost everyone. Soon the idea had spread to every state and many foreign countries. A few years later the custom of everyone wearing a white carnation was begun and later our present custom of wearing either white or red was believed to be more appropriate because the people wanted to express the difference in "a memory" and "the present living world." We know that Mother's Day is the second Sunday in May but somehow this does not give full meaning to the question, "When is Mother's Day?" And because it doesn't, here is a second question: Is it possible for every day to be the day that honors her who gave us birth and surrounded all our growing years with her unfailing love and care? Mother's Day is the one thing that has a living interest for all races and creeds. It is a day for the high and low, the rich and poor, every man, woman and child. A mother is the one common possession of all the living world so why couldn't every day be Mother's Day with you and me.

Every day that we are true to her ideals, her love, her faith—her God—that day we honor our mother. Every day that we possess strength and courage or serve another unselfishly—that day becomes a living memorial to our good mothers. Still the full significance the day has for me cannot be reached without thinking upon the third question: Is there a greater Mother's Day yet to be?

With God's help the sons of men can build a world in which all womanhood is honored. When all of childhood everywhere has the chance in life which God intended; when all the homes of the world know economic security, social safety and spiritual opportunity—then the DAY OF GOD will dawn for all mothers everywhere.

To that end and in honor of my own mother, I would dedicate my service, my loyalty, my faith.

Father of Local Resident Passes

H. L. Goble, father of The Courier's shop foreman, Charles Goble, died Monday morning. The elder Goble, widely known as "Printer" Goble, was a member of the force of the Floyd County Times at Prestonsburg. He had visited in West Liberty about a week before his passing. The following account of his death is from The Times:

H. L. Goble, who for 50 years had worked with Eastern Kentucky newspapers as printer and linotype operator, died at 4:00 o'clock Monday morning in Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington, of a heart attack.

Mr. Goble's death came after months of failing health, but he entered the hospital only two days earlier and had continued his work with The Floyd County Times until about 10 days before his passing. The seizure was unexpected, and he died in his sleep. Not until an autopsy was performed was the cause of death known.

Surviving are his widow, two daughters and three sons, Miss Louise E. Goble, Arlington, Va., Mrs. John R. Baldrige of Langley, Charles Goble, West Liberty, James E. and Daniel Goble, both of Prestonsburg. One sister, Mrs. A. J. Kirk of Paintsville, also survives.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Presbyterian church, the pastor, the Rev. Orville Pearson officiating. Burial was made in the old Mayo cemetery at Lancer under direction of the Moore Funeral Home and the auspices of Zebulon Lodge.

Motorists, observe the White Cane Law. When you see a blind person crossing a street, bring your car to a stop to let him cross.

Harper Gatten, executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, then introduced President Dewey Daniel who extended brief greetings and declared the "responsibility of building up Eastern Kentucky rests on you and me."

Wetherby Speaker for Tour

Governor Wetherby then made the principal speech for the visitors. "I personally want to thank you for this warm reception. It is the finest one we have had," he said.

Then, beaming at the hundreds of Morgan countians crowded around, he said, "This is a bipartisan tour, but I just want to say I appreciate the fact Morgan is a fine Democratic county."

Then he said, "Seriously speaking, the Chamber of Commerce and Kentucky are working together for a better State. We have increased our rural road program and we are making every effort to bring our roads up to par. Toll-free, past president of the National Road Builders Association, who spent 233 million dollars in Kentucky last year are helping us. We must sell Kentuckians on the possibilities of Kentucky. We can have a better way of life, better schools and better homes. But no section of Kentucky can progress sooner than all sections," he said. "We are working together; that's why we are bringing West Kentucky leaders into Eastern Kentucky. We must sell every section of the state on the possibilities of Kentucky as a whole," he declared.

Commissioners Presented
Mr. Gatten then presented Miss Pearl Runyon, State Treasurer; Mrs. Lucy Smith, State Director of Parks; Mack Sisk, State Director of Publicity; Norman Christmas, P. L. D., past president of Chamber of Commerce; William Curlin, Commissioner of Highways; Henry Ward, Commissioner of Conservation.

Each got a rousing applause and a hearty greeting from a and Commissioner Curlin spoke briefly. Ward told Morgan countians, "You will see tourists coming in increasing numbers over US 460." Commissioner Curlin said, "I am never allowed to overlook Morgan in road projects. You'll never be forgotten in roads as long as Reed Halsey is Judge."

Boy Scouts presented booklets to the 64 members of the tour—booklets extending greetings from the Bluegrass County of the Mountains and depicting in picture and prose a brief history of the county. The booklets were prepared by the Courier staff and contained six pictures of the county. The front page contained a picture of a Kentucky Colonel and a map of the county and a read, "Greetings, Neighbor! from the Bluegrass County of the Mountains."

Though scheduled only for a 15 minute stop, the tour remained in West Liberty a half hour. After the public greeting at the courthouse, members of the tour were invited to the Stamper and Elam restaurants across the street where refreshments were served free by a committee headed by Mrs. C. K. Stacy, and including Mrs. W. H. Stacy, Miss Anna Jean Price, Mrs. Ova O. Haney, Mrs. Earl Kinner and Mrs. Henry Stacy, representing the Morgan County Woman's Club and other organizations.

The party went on to Salversville for lunch, then on to the Breaks of Sandy for supper and back to Pikeville for the night. On Friday they visited Dewey and toured county seats in the Big Sandy. They were scheduled to spend the night in Ashland and then visit Carter Caves, Morehead, Owingsville and Mt. Sterling Saturday.

NOTES ON MORGAN'S TOUR WELCOME

"I have never seen such warm hospitality," said J. D. Stacy, State Fair manager. "That's good mountain people for you," he was answered.

Vic Portmann, secretary of the Kentucky Press Service and a faculty member of the University of Kentucky, said everyone was enjoying the tour, and especially scenery in Morgan county. "The hills and countryside are the most beautiful of any I've seen. I'm coming back in June," Portmann thought the coffee and cake session following the program was especially appreciated, since everyone had to leave the bus and push on one of the hairpin turns in Natural Bridge park earlier in the day.

Gerald Griffin may have overlooked mentioning West Liberty as one of the stops on the Governor's Tour in his Courier-Journal story Wednesday, but The Courier can assure our people it was not intentional. For Gerald has a warm spot in his heart for West Liberty and West Liberty people have a warm spot in their hearts for him. For it was Gerald who gave West Liberty such fine publicity when Morgan county staged its hero's welcome for Maj. William E. Barber. When the Courier phoned him at his office in Louisville to ask if he would "cover" the event, he answered, "Sure, I'll be right there." His was the best publicity Morgan county has ever gotten from the daily press. Griffin, by the way, is doing a fine job covering Eastern Kentucky news events for the C-J.

All in all, the visitors were overwhelmed with the hospitality from the people of the bluegrass county of the mountains. Many said they were impressed more with the way they were received and welcomed in West Liberty than at any previous stop.

Some of the comments overheard were, "What a pretty town," "Your court house clock needs setting," "If I don't get one of the booklets, be sure and mail me one—I hear my picture is on the cover."

Barkley Sturgill of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce office in Louisville, after hearing Atty. Herbert L. Rose's welcome address, asked to be introduced to "this fellow Rose: he's got something, and I want to meet him." Barkley, by the way, is Troy Sturgill's son of Prestonsburg.

"This welcome has certainly been impressive," said Henry Ward, Commissioner of Conservation.

O. L. McElroy of Eminence, representing the American Book Company, said: "This is a wonderful trip and we are very much pleased at the fine reception given to us in West Liberty. I am coming back soon. The country looks beautiful and this is a fine crowd of people."

Impressed is a word we're using a lot; but that's what Barkley Sturgill was with the publicity booklet put out by The Courier. He even collected a few autographs from the fairer sex.

WOMAN'S CLUB

of the world and I've yet to see one who was disloyal to America. I get frightened when I hear this sort of accusation glibly spoken in our own country.

"Thomas Jefferson as Secretary of State had very much the same sort of trouble Acheson had and Dulles is having. All functions of the State Department are external; very few people know what the State Department does. We're in a strange new situation; we're called upon to make correct decisions and no mistakes. We've had to assume in quick order world leadership of the free nations. Every American is called upon to do a thing he never before dreamed of. We're in a cold war and a hot war at the same time—and we are fighting a desperate battle in the human mind. I've seen the freedom of the curbed (in Austria under Russian rule). Let us protect those things we revere so much. Let us not give heed to those who would stamp out our greatest heritage—individual liberty."

During the evening's program Mrs. Murray made a statement, and Mrs. H. D. Potter, outgoing president, gave a brief talk. A bowl of red roses decorated the speaker's table and arrangements of red and white flowers were used on the other tables. Mrs. Potter gave a red rose to each one present. Combined placecards and programs were tiny paper gloves printed with the divisions of Inmate Guests' names were written on the bases.

Mrs. C. K. Stacy gave the benediction.

KIWANIS CLUB IN 15TH YEAR OF PUBLIC SERVICE

Former Editor Brong And "Pop" Seymour Remembered for Aid

Looking back on fifteen years of service since its organization, members of the West Liberty Kiwanis Club enjoyed a program in charge of a charter member at Stamper's Restaurant Wednesday evening.

Bernard E. Whitte was in charge of the program, and other charter members still with the club are J. Blaine Nickell, West Liberty attorney; W. G. Ratliff, local banker, and W. O. Pelfrey, principal of Morgan County high school.

Each of the charter members spoke of the accomplishment and worth of the organization.

Nickell mentioned the Kiwanis playground and the water system as products of clubmembers' efforts, and cited particularly the time and energy expended by F. S. Brong, former Courier publisher and editor in this project.

Nickell said the greatest thrill of his life was taking 25 boys to the Ringling Brothers Circus at Lexington.

Ratliff and Pelfrey spoke of the many benefits and joy in taking boxes of gifts to needy families at Christmas. Mr. Pelfrey has seven years perfect attendance.

Ratliff recalled the statement made by Alexander "Pop" Seymour, native of Scotland, "I am a better man by being a member of the club."

The help given to needy children in getting glasses for them through Miss Linda Nevill of Lexington was recalled by Mr. Ratliff. Other projects sponsored by the West Liberty Kiwanis club that exemplify the type of public service it has been doing are the NYA shop, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Green Pastures, and Index Hill project which demonstrated what can be done on worn out land by changing it to grass.

Mountain Muses

Edited By
JOHN D. ENGLE, JR.

Send all poems to Mr. Engle
326 Woodland Avenue, Lexington, Ky.

Boswell Gough of Richmond, Ky., appears in this column for the first time this week. The reader will readily notice that his poetry is not of the type that is usually found here. Two of these poems are written in the modern, free verse manner—no meter or rhyme. The worth of these poems lies in the fact that they say something and say it well. They are original; and though they have their faults as most poems do, they are free from that big mistake which amateurs frequently make in assuming that if it rhymes it is poetry.

Many poets have written about the passing of time and the brevity of life. It is a subject that could easily become trite, but Gough handles it in a new way. Perhaps someday our bones and our relics will be on display in the museums of another race. And is it possible that the lowly Indian may return? Who knows?

A NOTE FROM UNDERGROUND

The Indians are dormant now; their long bones crumble beneath the soil, hidden somewhere away in this hollow land. Once indigenous to the place, now they become its tutelary spirits. No one remembers them—except professors of local history, who are as cracked and dusty as the dubious ceramics they preserve in locked cases. The land is hollow: a war drum, a great sounding-board. No one hears the sinister reverberation; maybe the children do—I sometimes suspect—but if they do they don't reveal its message, and they forget it when they grow up.

The white bone faces of the Indians grin. They know that WE shall depart this place, leaving our middens and relics of tin cans and Model-T's. They know that THEY shall return again and take back their hollow land.

In the following poem Gough weaves the themes of time and death into one unified impression. Note that the poem has no punctuation marks whatever. Many modern poets (Archibald MacLeish is a good example) often dispense with punctuation as well as all other traditional poetic rules. I cannot see that the absence of punctuation adds anything to this poem, since the mind supplies the absent marks anyway, from force of habit. This poem is worth while, not because it has no punctuation, but in spite of the fact.

DANDELIONS

We looked at the dandelions on the grass gold coins scattered by a prodigal hand. Then I thought what will become of this little moment:

who will look at the dandelions who will see the yellow circles on the green of our graves. The following poem shows that Gough can write in rhyme and meter if he wishes. This is somewhat a parody on Ogden Nash's poetic style, and though it contains a kind of bitter humor, it is rather inclined toward pessimism as are the two poems above.

THINGS ARE TOUGH ALL OVER

(Or: How to Make Ogden Nash His Teeth)
Being a pauper or owning a mint—
it's all up to Fate's blue-print. In Natural Law it was encoded that dice always be loaded. Fate lays a bear-trap to catch our feet; and, then, gives us a kick in the seat. Fate has seen fit to pickle us in the brine of the Ridiculous.

Why America is swinging to Ford

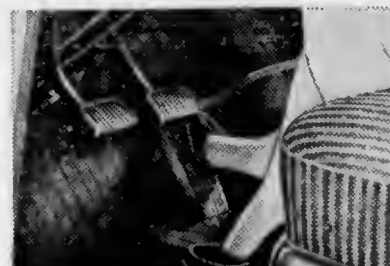

MORE AND MORE PEOPLE ARE FINDING THAT FORD IS WORTH MORE WHEN THEY BUY... WORTH MORE WHEN THEY SELL... AND HERE'S WHY:

People all over the country are finding in Ford the beauty and engineering they expected to find only in the more expensive cars. They're finding beauty that "belongs" in any surroundings...

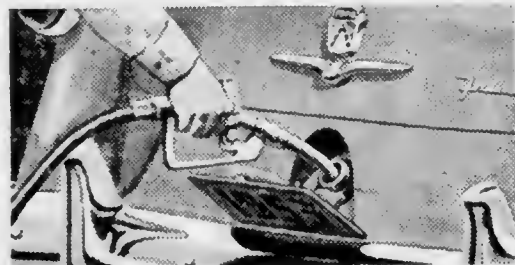

Ford's roomy interiors are handsomely styled in a wide variety of colors, all tastefully matched to exterior colors. And Ford's soft, foam rubber cushions over non-sag springs give you day-long driving comfort.

Suspended clutch and brake pedals work easier and give more room. They turn the entire floor space into foot space. And they act as "no entrance" signs to drafts and dirt—make it easier to keep your Ford clean.

comfort that was formerly associated only with hard-to-park length. And a study of the used car market shows that Ford keeps its value better than any other car.

Center-fill fueling is another "Worth More" feature that's not found in the low-price field. It saves fill-up time and trouble... ends hose marks on fenders. The short fill pipe makes room for an extra suitcase in the trunk. Here's another reason Ford is the New Standard of the American Road.

Ford Steering is easy on you! Makes handling a treat on highway or street. Wide front tread permits sharp turns for easier parking in small spaces. And Ford Full-Circle Visibility gives you clear vision in all directions.

Ford has a new, smoother ride. New, softer spring and shock absorber action plus new-design rubber compression bumpers reduce front-end road shock (the kind you feel most) up to 80%. Ford's wide front tread, low center of gravity and diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers help keep you level on curves.

Ford Economy Beats Them All!
A Ford Mileage Maker "6", with Overdrive, won the grand Sweepstakes Award in the 1953 Mobilgas Economy Run. For the first time in history, a low-priced car not only won in its class, but took top honors—the coveted Sweepstakes Award—far beating the entire field regardless of class, size or weight. Here's additional proof that Ford is America's greatest economy car.

MOREHEAD PROF LANDSCAPES MANY EAST KY. HOMES

Mr. H. C. Haggan, professor of Agriculture at Morehead State College, has landscaped many farm homes as well as many town homes throughout north-eastern Kentucky.

Landscaping is not Mr. Haggan's regular job and neither does he receive any pay for it. He does landscaping on the side because he enjoys this work, regards it as a hobby and just likes to see a home made beautiful with good, green lawns, beautiful shade trees, shrubs and flowers of the right kind in the right places, as proper landscaping really makes a house a home. Mr. Haggan has often said, "When I retire as a teacher I am going to devote my full time to landscaping."

Mr. Haggan pointed out that many errors are often made in landscaping when the job is not thoroughly planned. Such errors may occur when people buy shrubs off the trucks as many do and the driver sells them just what he happens to have at that time, rather than what is needed.

Mr. Haggan has worked wholeheartedly with families cooperating with the Farmers Home Administration to develop their farms and homes. At present the following owners of new farm homes are some of those whom Mr. Haggan has helped and who are in the planning or nearing-completion stages of their landscaping work:

Emery Horton, Sandy Hook, Elliott County.
Ralph Fraley, Sandy Hook, Elliott County.
Neville Adkins, Sandy Hook, Elliott County.
M. M. Booth, Dobbins, Elliott County.
David Ross, from Halcum, Elliott County.
Frank Craig, Grayson, Carter County.
E. L. Underwood, Wolf, Carter County.

COUPLE TO OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Benton of Batavia, O., plan to observe their 50th wedding anniversary at their home on Benton road Sunday, May 17, with an open house, beginning at 1:00 p.m.

Paris M. and Louisa Patrick Benton were married at her home in Magoffin county, Kentucky, on May 15, 1903. They moved to Clermont County, O. from Caney, Ky. thirty-three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton are the parents of Mrs. Mabel Wilson of Batavia, Ohio, Mrs. Leo Carlier near Owensville, Ohio, Mrs. Ralph Houser of Moscow, Mrs. Joseph Dye, Harve De Grace, Maryland, Mrs. John M. Hughes, New Vienna, Ohio, William C. Benton, M. M. C. U. S. Navy, and the late Earl Benton of Batavia.

Also helping them celebrate will be their eighteen grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

W. A. Caudill, Sharkey, Rowan County.

William C. Ferguson, Morehead, Rowan County.

Horton Alley, Farmers, Rowan County.

This landscaping may not show up so at present, but it is expected in a few years, if the shrubs, flowers, lawns and trees are properly cared for, that these homes will be outstanding in their communities.

The Barrens section of Kentucky is so called because early settlers found it almost devoid of trees and were unable to discover water for themselves or their stock.

FERTILIZE INJURES TOBACCO PLANTS

If the weather continues dry in May, small tobacco plants one-fourth to 2 inches across may turn yellow and die, or when touched break off at the surface of the ground.

Usually the area in the bed where this occurs has a white coating over the surface caused by soil particles made up of salt carried to the surface by evaporated water.

These salts injure the small roots of the plants and prevents growth of new roots from the crown.

Such condition is usually the result of applying too much fertilizer to the surface of the bed before sowing or from excess of potash salts following burning a bed with wood—or both.

If the weather should be wet continuously, no harm will result.

If this dryness occurs in your bed, you should water the bed heavily at intervals for maybe three or four times.

LIFE SENTENCE METED CAUDILL IN OLD ROBBERY

Grand Jury Asks Water Be Piped To Court House

SANDY HOOK, Ky., May 12—Glenn Caudill, age 17, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Elliott circuit court here last Wednesday after pleading guilty to complicity in the armed robbery of Willie and Brack Caudill, both in their 80's, at their home near the Elliott-Rowan county line.

Ed Johnson and Chester Caudill drew similar sentences at the February term in the same case after pleading guilty, and they now are serving their sentences.

Vess Peters of Isonville was sentenced to serve two years for carrying a concealed weapon. He is now a patient in an Ashland hospital suffering from a broken leg.

Eugene Kegley was fined $100 for reckless driving in a manslaughter case growing out of a car accident some time ago. The charges against Lonnie Adkins in the same case were dismissed.

The grand jury returned indictments against four youths for breaking into the Sandy Theatre and taking $36 in cash. All the other indictments were for lesser offenses.

The grand jury in its final report recommended that an adequate water supply be provided for the court house.

Mrs. Sina Brown, 39-year-old widow, was absolved of any blame during an investigation into the fatal shooting of Talmadge Thornsbury, 30, at Mrs. Brown's home at Newfoundland last January 29.

Judge John Keck freed Mrs. Brown on recommendation of Commonwealth's Attorney Major Gardner.

Detective Arch Thompson, a former state police detective, represented the woman. He presented evidence showing that the bullet which killed Thornsbury could not have come from the gun she was accused of firing.

Thompson said Mrs. Brown, a

Hybrid Corn Seed
What kind of hybrid seed corn should you plant? In tests in seven widely scattered plots in Kentucky over the last ten years the yellow hybrids rank as follows on yield and percentage of standing stalks at harvest time: U. S. 13 averaged 72.5 bushels per acre with 83 percent of the stalks erect. Ky. 102 averaged 72.1 bushels per acre with 78 percent of the stalks erect. U. S. 13 averaged 71.1 bushels per acre and 86 percent erect stalks.

During the last four years the yield and erectness of the white hybrids has been as follows: U. S. 529W has yielded an average of 84.1 bushels per acre with 89 percent of the stalks standing. Ky. 405B averaged 79.4 bushels with 88 percent of the stalks erect. Stull's 400W averaged 83.5 bushels per acre and 89 percent standing stalks. Indiana 750B averaged 76.7 bushels with 89 percent erect stalks. Ky. 203 averaged 76.0 bushels and 81 percent erect stalks. U. S. 323 looked good and outyielded other varieties for Tommy Oldfield, of White Oak, and Leonard Havens, Ezel, last year. Stewart McKinney, Kelliecy, is among those who tried Stull's 400W and liked it. Both these varieties were used by Cleith Rowe of Magoffin county when he set a world's record of 222.3 bushels on one acre in 1951.

Livestock Committee Plans For Fair
The Hereford Beef Cattle committee met April 11 to plan for the county fair. All the purebred breeders in the county were given written invitations to meet with them and discuss the organization of a county purebred livestock association. No other breed was represented and those present felt that they should not organize another group by themselves.

The group authorized Don Sebastian to close a contract with a Lexington firm to rent a tent for the livestock show at the county fair. They agreed to ask the Fair Board to pay for the tent. They also set up additional beef cattle rings to perform with other shows. These rings will be only for Herefords. The group agreed the cattle would be in on Thursday, showed Friday, afternoon and left on exhibit until Saturday noon.

Strawberry Marketing
A letter was sent to all growers asking them to indicate the marketing help they needed and their interest in a grading demonstration. One farmer only, Robert Cassidy of Crockett, replied. He has half an acre of very good berries. He will have a good opportunity to sell all his berries in West Liberty, as do others.

Greener Pastures
Improved seeding practices and heavier fertilizer use have shown up in greener pastures all over the county this year. Everett Henry of Index has an outstanding plot that was seeded last fall, one that was seeded in the spring of 1952 and five acres that were well-fertilized and seeded on a prepared seed bed this spring. Glenn Lacy of Grassy Creek has seeded a steep hill-side to a pasture mixture after testing the soil, fertilizing according to need and preparing a good seed bed. C. A. Fugate, Grassy Creek, last year's county master pastureman, has plowed up five acres of broomsedge and sowed it to a well-fertilized pasture mixture. In addition, he sowed four acres to alfalfa and 10 acres to red clover and grasses.

Our loneliness, my friends, you'll find
Is only just a frame of mind;
If loneliness has claimed your time,
Then kindly analyze this rhyme;
To render service day by day,
Will drive all loneliness away;
It has no place for its abode,
Where we will share our neighbor's load.

Influence in the lives of young people today, and said they must think in terms of values of basic freedom, for once young people believe war is inevitable, then war becomes inevitable.

Declaring that he was optimistic about the future of graduates today, he admonished them to continually evaluate themselves to see if they are measuring up and living a life "that presents some kind of challenge."

Following Dr. Spain's address, and a song by the Sextet, Mrs. C. K. Stacy presented the Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Murray scholastic award to Danny Wells, and the Vocational Agriculture award to Wendell Holbrook.

Carl Stewart, superintendent of Morgan county schools, presented diplomas to the graduates.
Danny Wells, valedictorian, and Fern Wallin, salutatorian, were recognized for their high scholastic standing, as were others of the class attaining a standing of 2, or better.

Rev. Arthur Johnson, faculty member, pronounced the benediction.

Flowers in class colors of white and purple decorated the stage. Misses Mary Katherine Blevins and Sally Anne Emrick, gowned in long bouffant formal, led the processional and two other girls gave out the programs.
